AMERICANS BREAK THROUGH NAZI LINE

FALL OF WILNO TO RUSSIANS BELIEVED NEAR

...ess Battle in Streets as Other Forces Drive Past Lithuanian Capital.

BULLETIN

By The Associated Press

LONDON, July 10—The British press said tonight the Russians had advanced to a point within 50 miles of east Prussia.

By The Associated Press

MOSCOW, July 10—The Red Army fought for the second day in the streets of the Lithuanian capital of Wilno today, but the city appeared doomed to early capitulation.

London dispatches said the Russian army, leaving large forces of tanks and infantry to battle the Germans in Wilno, was dashing westward toward Kaunas (Kovno), 50 miles beyond Wilno, as the disordered Germans fell back across Lithuania and Poland in a military collapse that grew more disastrous by the hour.

Northwest of Wilno the Russians had reached within 50 to 85 miles of East Prussia at unspecified points, these reports said.)

The Germans declared East Prussia a "rear area of operations" and are planning a swift withdrawal from the Pskov-Narva sector of Estonia, information reaching a person in London with close connections with the German underground said today.

To Defend East Prussia

(This informant asserted the Nazi plan called for the evacuation of all of Estonia and most of Latvia to strengthen the defenses of East Prussia, cradle of Junkers military leadership.)

While some troops of Gen. Ivan Cherniakhovsky's Third White Russian army battered down resistance inside Wilno, others were deployed on the left flank and captured the railway junction of Lida, 50 miles to the south.

Cherniakhovsky's men captured more than 300 other points, it was announced.

Gen. Ivan Bagramian's first Baltic army struck northeast of Wilno and seized Sventsyani, 48 miles from the capital, and just inside the Lithuanian border, bringing the Wilno-Daguavpils (Dvinsk) railroad under fire.

Gen. Georg Zahkharov's Second White Russian army, which has been lagging behind the others in the offensive, crossed the Lida-Baranowitze railroad, taking 150 towns, including Dyartlovo, 30 miles south of Lida, and Novogrudok, the same distance to the southeast.

Hitler Moves Again

The OWI in New York said the Stockholm newspaper Aftonbladet carried an article declaring that Adolf Hitler had moved his headquarters at Lotzen in East Prussia "farther inland" because of the "serious situation" on the eastern front.)

A Soviet war bulletin asserted the Russians had captured the main railway station and airport in Wilno and were inflicting tremendous losses on the Nazis in heavy street fighting. A large airborne force brought up by the Germans was wiped out, the communique declared.

The German radio said this morning that the Nazi garrison had withdrawn to the center of Wilno, where heavy fighting continued.

CHURCH LEADER DIES IN ROME

Most Rev. Edward J. Hanna Well Known as Arbitrator of Labor Disputes.

By The Associated Press

ROME, July 10 — The Most Rev. Edward J. Hanna, 83, Catholic archbishop of San Francisco from 1915 to 1935, and well-known for his work on behalf of immigrants and as a labor arbitrator, died today in Rome, where he had lived since his retirement.

He had been in ill health for some time.

In 1913, the then Bishop Hanna was appointed a member of a California state immigration and housing commission, playing a leading role in a program of reform of labor camps.

In 1921 he served on an arbitration board settling labor disputes in the San Francisco building trades, and in 1934, upon President Roosevelt's appointment, headed a board bringing peace in a Pacific coast strike of marine workers.

Bishop Hanna was consecrated in 1912 as titular Bishop of Tetopolis, and became head of the archdiocese in 1915 upon the death of Archbishop P. W. Riordan. Born in Rochester July 21, 1860, he was ordained in 1885 after attending the American college at Rome, was an instructor there for a time, and returned to Rochester in 1887, teaching Latin in St. Andrew's seminary.

Upon his retirement as archbishop of San Francisco, Pope Pius XI named him titular archbishop of Gortyna, an honorary office.

Funeral services will be held Thursday.

NAZI U-BOATS FAIL TO DISRUPT INVASION

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, July 10—For every United Nations' merchant ship sunk by German submarines during June, "several times as many U-Boats were sent to the bottom," President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill disclosed in a joint monthly report.

Hitler's submarine fleet failed on all counts in June, 1944," the report asserted, adding that merchant vessel losses to German undersea craft reached "almost the lowest figure of the entire war."

German submarines failed signally to cause any important interference with the Normandy invasion operations, a supplementary report stated. It pointed out that only one merchant ship of the great invasion fleet could be charged off as a possible victim of the U-boat fleet and that "in this case doubt exists as to her destruction by U-boat or mine."

Twins Are Born In England To Wife of Marion Soldier

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lindsey of 195 Lake street received a cable Friday, announcing the birth of twin daughters on July 5 in England to their son and daughter-in-law, Sgt. and Mrs. Paul H. Lindsey.

Mrs. Lindsey is the former Migs Gracie McMillan of Belfast, Ireland. The couple became acquainted when Miss McMillan was a nurse at Hope hospital near Manchester where Sgt. Lindsey was stationed. They were married last fall.

Sgt. Lindsey has been overseas since December 1942. He entered the service in March, 1942 and prior to that date he was employed at the Pollak Steel Co. He is a graduate of Harding High school.

The couple plan to return to Marion to make their home after the war.

NELSON TO STAND ON PRODUCTION PLAN

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, July 10 — Chairman Donald M. Nelson's close colleagues in the war production board predict he will override military objections and sign into effect his orders permitting limited civilian goods production.

They say, moreover, that Nelson will not "water down" or compromise the announced program, which would let industry start preparations for reconversion and, while the war continues, devote the men, machines and material not needed for munitions to the manufacture of consumer goods.

Ten days to two weeks may elapse, however, associates said today, before Nelson is able to return to duty. He is recuperating from pneumonia which sent him to a hospital shortly after he gave instructions June 19 for issuance of the relaxed controls.

Military opposition came into the open Saturday night, when the joint Army and Navy chiefs of staff made public a letter signed by Adm. William D. Leahy chief of staff to President Roosevelt as commander in chief. It declared: "The issuance of orders at this time which will affect our ability to produce war materials is not consistent with the all-out prosecution of the war."

DE GAULLE ENDS CAPITAL VISIT

French Leader Well Pleased with Conversations at White House.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, July 10—Gen. Charles De Gaulle, reporting his conversations with President Roosevelt had attained the "principal object" of creating a better understanding, announced today he would move his capital from Algiers to liberated French territory as soon as possible.

"I had very broad and frank conversations with President Roosevelt," De Gaulle told a press conference adding that he was taking away with him "the best possible impression from my stay in the capital of the United States."

The French leader said he explained to the President, "as well as I could, how France, gradually emerging from her temporary misfortune, intends to participate with her allies, at her rightful place, first in the war and then in the life of the world at peace."

De Gaulle said President Roosevelt spoke to him of American responsibilities for the war and for the peace "with a breadth of view, a knowledge of the problems, and an idealism which particularly impressed me."

The general discussed his meeting with Mr. Roosevelt and other American officials just before taking a plane for New York. He spoke in French after an initial "good morning, ladies and gentlemen" in English.

First he read a statement ex-

HARTFORD BURIES CIRCUS FIRE VICTIMS

By The Associated Press

HARTFORD, Conn., July 10 — Hartford today prepared to bury its six unidentified dead as the death list of the Ringling Brothers and Barnum and Bailey Circus fire of last Thursday mounted to 157.

The unidentified, three children, two women and one man, will be buried in individual graves in Northwood cemetery, Mayor William M. Mortensen has announced.

Hartford was a city of prayers and funerals Sunday.

In every church amidst poignant, silent grief, clergymen of all faiths read the names of those in their parishes who had died in the greatest circus catastrophe in the country's history and announced the hours of funeral services.

Investigating agencies poured over reams of testimony taken in hearings, making ready for the coroner's inquest on Tuesday.

The police still were searching for the unidentified man who Detective Daniel McAuliffe said under oath at a fire marshall's inquiry he had heard say "that dirty ——— tossed a cigaret." Commissioner Hickey made a public appeal to the man to present himself for questioning.

ALLIED PLANES BACK TROOPS IN INVASION

Large Forces of Bombers and Fighters Stream Across Channel Today.

By The Associated Press

LONDON, July 10 — Large forces of allied bombers and fighters streamed across the English channel in improving weather today in support of the British and American troops advancing on the Normandy battlefront.

(The Paris radio said allied planes bombed northeast Paris this morning.)

During the night RAF Mosquito and Boston bombers ranged deep into France and attacked 18 trains and railroads leading to the German front, highway convoys and Seine river bridges.

Mosquitos bombed a synthetic oil plant at Buer, Lancasters with fighter cover attacked an unidentified military objective in northern France. Other RAF planes laid mines in enemy waters and not an aircraft was lost in the night operations.

German reinforcements struggling westward across the Seine near the coast just east of Le Havre on ferries and pontoon bridges were bombed and strafed over a 30-mile stretch between Quillebeuf and Duclair.

Over Germany Today

The German radio said single allied raiders were over northwest Germany early this morning.

German positions only 50 yards ahead of Canadian troops were attacked by Typhoons that swooped in no more than 10 feet over the soldiers' heads.

A Normandy-based Spitfire wing got a congratulatory telegram from the British Second army for yesterday's bag of 85 German tanks, trucks and armored cars destroyed and damaged.

Eleven allied planes have been reported lost thus far in yesterday's 3,500 sorties, made despite poor weather, and at least the same number of German planes were shot down. Three of the allied planes lost were heavy bombers.

The allied strategic air campaign against the German war effort was carried forward yesterday by about 1,000 U. S. heavy bombers which flew in from the west and south escorted by a like number of fighters while many formations of other types continued direct tactical support of the normandy beachhead.

Ploesti Hit Again

American 15th air force heavies from Italy hit the Romanian oil center of Ploesti, Britain-based U. S. Flying Fortresses and Liberators on three major missions pounded bridges in the Tours area in France, flying bomb launching sites in the Pas-De-Calais zone and a German airdrome at Chateaudun, 75 miles southwest of Paris. Four heavy bombers and three fighters were lost in the attack on French targets.

The RAF also sent fighter-escorted Lancasters and Halifaxes against the Buzz-bomb sits as these terror missiles continued to fall in southern England and the London area.

That the Germans are becoming hard-pressed for motor fuel was shown by the capture in Normandy of an increasing number of tanks and trucks which had run out of fuel. This was attributed both to allied air attacks on production centers, supply dumps and roads—and to the French underground activities cutting rail lines, thus forcing the Germans to move tanks to the front under their own power.

Roads to Berlin Grow Shorter for Allies

Mileages on the routes which allied armies are traveling toward Berlin now read:

(1) Russian front—470 miles (measured in a direct line) from a point just north of Kowel.

(2) Italian front—610 miles (from near Ancona on the Adriatic.)

(3) Normandy front—635 miles (from Caen).

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, July 10—Vice President Wallace returned to the capital this morning by plane and the White House announced he would report later to President Roosevelt on his mission to China and Russia.

Wallace arrived here from Seattle, Wash., shortly before 10 a. m. (EWT).

Presidential Secretary Stephen Early said Wallace originally expected to call at the White House tomorrow but that his arrival somewhat earlier than had been expected caused the alteration of plans.

Fall of Saipan Opens Gate To Japan and Philippines

Last Enemy Resistance Broken as Japs "Die Senselessly"; Hundreds of Civilians Surrender to Americans.

By The Associated Press

U. S. PACIFIC FLEET HEADQUARTERS, PEARL HARBOR, JULY 10—Vast new possibilities of sea and air smashes toward Japan and the Philippines surged into view today with the conquest of Saipan and Noemfoor islands in the western Pacific.

Onrushing American forces wrested Saipan Saturday from a terrified Japanese garrison trapped on the island's northern tip. It fell 24 hours after allied forces under Gen. Douglas MacArthur completely took over Noemfoor near New Guinea's Northwest end.

Associated Press War Correspondent Rembert James representing the combined allied press, came through with the first details of the savage bitter-end struggle the trapped Japanese offered on Saipan.

"Organized Japanese resistance ended just before dusk yesterday (Saturday)", he wrote. "Civilians were surrendering by the hundreds.

"In 25 days of battle American forces had battered the first great hole in Japan's inner defense armor and carried the war more than 1,000 miles westward.

"From Saipan American planes can fly across Japan's sea and air routes southward from the empire and even Japanese home islands will be in reach of long-range planes."

James said probably 95 per cent of the Japanese garrison estimated at more than 20,000 when the invasion began July 14, had been destroyed.

Japs Die Without Reason

"The finale yesterday was an ugly spectacle of senseless dying," he continued.

Enemy troops, weakened to a point of exhaustion by two days of futile counterattack, were pushed steadily backward. "The desperation and panic behind the enemy lines helped to crumble Japanese defenses.

"American airmen flying over the trapped foe saw signs of bewilderment and terror among the troops and civilians there. At one place, scores of Japanese swam out into the sea as the battle drew nearer. x x x There was nowhere to swim to and they had to swim back or drown."

The strategic value of Saipan was immense.

"Saipan offers the best possibilities for airfield development of any of the islands captured from the Japanese in the central Pacific campaign," said Vice Adm. John H. Hoover, commander of the central Pacific forward area.

Best Airstrip Taken

"Its main airstrip is far the best that we have taken and the island's size offers additional advantages of wide dispersal."

Super Fortresses could operate from Saipan with devastating power against Tokyo 1450 miles north of the Philippines, 1,500 miles west. The island also has great potentialities as a naval supply point and submarine staging base. It is less than 150 miles north of Guam, first U. S. territory taken by Japan after the outbreak of war.

DRIVE TOWARD LESSAY AFTER TAKING LA HAYE

British, in Caen, Launch New Offensive Quickly After City Falls.

By The Associated Press

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY IN FRANCE, JULY 10—Breaking through the Germans' strong defenses around La Haye Du Puits, American troops drove south along the road to Lessay, opening a broad exit through the base of the Cotentin peninsula.

Stubborn enemy defenses cracked open when the doughboys stormed through La Haye and then began moving ahead swiftly against scattered knots of resistance. The Germans began falling back to their next line defense.

All along the American line from the Vire river in the center of the Normandy front, to the sea on the west, the Yanks were smashing at the Germans in a cold drizzle. Fog hung low over the marshy lowlands, reducing visibility and muffling the thunder of hundreds of guns.

All last night and today the Americans kept heavy artillery pouring fire on the enemy's positions. There was an almost steady crash of guns and there rarely was a time when 100 rounds a minute could not be counted.

Wheels Churn Muddy Roads

Guns, trucks and armored vehicles rolled along the muddy roads, churning up a brown ooze. The long columns caused one to marvel at the mass of equipment concentrated in Normandy, which only a short time ago was only a beachhead.

South of St. Jean De Daye American troops were supported by tanks and armored vehicles, which patrolled roads and lanes with their guns spraying the enemy's hiding places in trees and hedgerows.

The fighting moved south of Cavigny in this sector after the Americans yesterday beat back a German counterattack in which 20 Nazi tanks were used.

Prisoners said they had been able to get only one hot meal a day and that that was delivered to them at night from kitchens in the rear.

The drive toward the south from La Haye put the Americans in control of one of the enemy's strongest positions along the entire line and uncorked one of the three exit corridors from the peninsula.

From a map study it appeared the enemy's next strong defensive line south of La Haye is likely to be at Lessay where there is another bottleneck between marshes and the sea. Lessay is about 4½ miles south of La Haye and an important road junction.

British Attack Again

The British Second army struck a hard blow eastward on a three-mile front at the Germans' left flank three miles south of newly-occupied Caen today, capturing Eterville in short order and advancing to within less than a mile of the river Orne.

Field dispatches described the attack as a typical flanking job by Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery.

It was made while the bulk of the main German forces were engaged by British sweeping through the ruins of Caen toward the suburb of Faubourg De Vaucelles, where the Germans were making a stand.

In the first two and a half hours of the new attack south and east of the Odon river, the British overran key hill 112, three quarters of a mile north of Esquay on the road to Caen, as well as Eterville, three miles southwest of Caen on the same road.

The new attack, flung with a thunderous artillery barrage at 5 a. m., came just 15 hours after British and Canadian forces had taken Caen, 120 miles from Paris, and opened the way to a favorable flat battleground on the plain of Caen south of the port to Falice.

Field dispatches assaying the extent of the British-Canadian victory at Caen said the German 12th S. S. panzer division and a field division had been mauled badly in trying to hold the town. The 12th panzers were reported whittled to 45 per cent of their normal strength, a loss of perhaps 3,500 men.

Caen Badly Battered

The town of Caen was battered so badly the British had to bring up bulldozers to push the rubble aside because vehicles could not get within 500 yards of the river.

The Germans have suffered a severe reverse," the supreme command asserted in commenting on the capture of Caen, stubborn bastion on the eastern wing of the bridgehead front, but hastened to add:

"They have not yet suffered a major defeat in the field."

YANKS DRIVE INTO VOLTERRA

Americans Overcome Strong Enemy Resistance To Capture Stronghold.

By The Associated Press

ROME, July 10—Overcoming dogged enemy resistance, American infantrymen who yesterday captured the German stronghold of Volterra have knifed forward another four miles and driven a significant wedge in the German defenses fronting the so-called "Gothic line," Allied headquarters announced today.

The action of the doughboys in driving the Nazis from Volterra was described officially as a setback to the enemy's intention of imposing the maximum delay on the Fifth army's drive toward the Arno river, on which are situated the cities of Florence and Pisa.

Progress, however, remained slow along the entire Italian front as the Germans continued to mass guns and troops and to fight desperately from every vantage point.

Advance Toward Leghorn

On the west coast, an Allied spokesman said, American troops made an advance of unspecified distance toward Livorno (Leghorn) despite heavy enemy fire of all kinds and widespread demolition. The troops in that sector last were reported only 10 miles from the big port.

Another American force moved up to attack Pomaja, eight miles inland and 14 miles southeast of Livorno. This village is astride the important north-south high-

MINE RESCUE CREW GETS NO RESPONSE

By The Associated Press

BELLAIRE, O., July 10—A deathly echo answered calls down a vent to the tunnel where 66 coal miners are entombed at nearby Powhatan mine, but drillers, clinging doggedly to the slim hope that the men might be alive, were sinking a second shaft today.

Crews using a drill nine inches in diameter broke through yesterday to the tunnel where the men were imprisoned 400 feet underground. They then lowered into the mine a telephone connected to an amplifier on the surface. But only the echo of their own voices and the dripping of an underground spring answered them as they tried to contact the men.

The workmen drilled without stopping for 32 hours from atop Carpenter's Hill before the big bit broke through. A three-inch drill is being used 1,200 feet from the spot where the nine-inch shaft was sunk. This bore is expected to be completed today.

The men were imprisoned by a fire Wednesday. Almost all hope for their safety was abandoned the following day and all external mine entrances were sealed as the only means of extinguishing the flames. The drilling from the surface was decided on in the slight hope that the imprisoned men might have been able to erect effective barriers against the fire.

Mine Superintendent Roy Fox reported the nine-inch shaft had been sealed. He also announced that work had been started on a slope entry into the mine to recover the bodies. This, he said, would take about three weeks.

John Balzell of Cadiz, O., 53-year-old member of the rescue crew, suffered fractures of both legs, his shoulder and back when a bit on the large drill slipped early yesterday.

CONDITION FAVORABLE

The condition of Common Pleas Judge Hector S. Young of 203 Kensington place, who is in Mt. Carmel hospital at Columbus, is reported to be "good" by hospital attaches, according to information received from there today. He was removed to the hospital last Thursday for observation for an abdominal ailment.

Ceiling Prices Placed On Used Automobiles Today

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, July 10—Used passenger automobiles come under price control today with all makes and models of used automobiles covered by ceiling prices. Sales by individuals as well as dealers are affected.

The office of price administration said the used car business, with annual sales volume of nearly $3,000,000, was until today the only industry that had not been subject to ceiling prices.

Requiring both the seller and the buyer to sign a certificate of purchase, the new order was designed, OPA said, to protect the consumer buyer from being overcharged and to guard dealers from unfair competition.

COMMISSION TAKES PLAYGROUND ACTION

Forest Lawn, Silver St. To Be Continued.

Decisions on playground problems were made Friday night when the Marion Recreation commission met. It was decided to continue use of Forest Lawn school as a playground and a sand box and additional equipment will be placed there. Learning attendance has started suggestions that the playground there be closed, but use of the site has picked up recently.

Disappointment in the number using the Silver Street school playground was registered at the meeting, but it was believed to result in the end, getting a better use and better equipment. The playground is maintained in the large tract north of Silver street, on the west side of the creek.

A request for a playground at Oakley grade school was considered. The commission has agreed to put aside money for securing a project for two months if and when a supervisor can be located by Joseph Petrich, playground director.

A committee consisting of Robert Mason, C. A. Nystrom and Herbert Wade was appointed to meet with city council tonight in regard to a request for the construction of a swimming pool in Marion.

Expert Advises Ohio Gardeners on Best Planting Methods To Use in Dry Weather

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., July 10—An expert advised gardeners today how to plant late summer crops during the drouth that is gripping the midwest and slashing vegetable production.

Showers were reported in some sections of Ohio yesterday, but they provided only slight relief and the weather bureau could promise no heavy rainfall in the immediate future.

Planting vegetable in weather as hot as Ohio has had the past three weeks is pretty much of a gamble, said Victor H. Ries, director of the Ohio victory garden project.

"It poses a difficult problem," he commented. "However, if late summer crops are to be grown, they must be planted now."

Ries suggested that ground be thoroughly hoed or spaded where seeds are to be planted and that a pound of victory garden fertilizer be incorporated in each 100 feet of row and thoroughly mixed with the soil.

After the row has been prepared and the trench in which the seeds are to be planted has been made, the soil should be thoroughly watered, he asserted.

"Water the row where you are to sow," Ries said, "even if you have to carry the water in pails."

After the seed sown is in the moist soil and covered with a quarter-inch of dirt, shade the row with weeds, old pea vines, heavy building paper or boards, he suggested.

Watering before sowing, he said, is better than watering after planting, since it does not have a tendency to cake the ground, or to pack the soil over the seed.

If you have planted, and get an exceedingly hot spell immediately after planting, the wise thing to do is to replant about a week later, he advised, since the intense heat sometimes makes a "spotty" germination.

Some vegetables that can be sown now include beets, carrots, bush beans, kale, rutabagas, and in a couple of weeks, Chinese cabbage.

Radishes, spinach, endive, leaf and head lettuce, mustard greens and turnips should be planted in late July, he said.

OHIO EXCEEDS QUOTA

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, July 10—Ohio exceeded its fifth war loan drive goal of $797,000,000 by $44,169,000 Phil J. Trounstine, state war finance chairman announced over the week-end.

There are no "national" holidays in the United States, since each state decides on its own observance.

DEWEY AT HOME. A neighbor shakes hands with Gov. Thomas E. Dewey as others wait their turn at a home town reception in Pawling, N. Y. It was the G.O.P. presidential nominee's first visit to his farm home since his return from the Republican convention in Chicago.

Hope for Democratic Peace in Texas Fades

By The Associated Press

AUSTIN, Texas, July 10 — Hopes of an agreement among Texas Democrats faded today with a statement from former State Sen. Roy Sanderford, permanent chairman of the regularly constituted Democratic convention, that there would be no compromise.

Sanderford's faction refused to bind its electors to vote for the party's presidential nominee unless the national convention at Chicago fulfilled certain conditions, including resoration of the two-thirds rule and adoption of a platform plank critical of the supreme court's recent Negro vote decision.

The pro-Roosevelt group split with the regular convention and formed its own, then named delegates pledged to vote for President Roosevelt's renomination and electors bound to support the party's nominee.

17 Enrolled By Musicians' Union

Seventeen new members were admitted at a meeting of Marion Local No. 531, American Federation of Musicians, yesterday afternoon in the Central Labor Union hall. Two stars were added to the local's service flag making a total of 24 members now serving with the armed forces. Keep It Flowing!

Many of us would prefer to go off to battle fronts. The hazards are great but so are the adventures.

We may envy our fighting men but we must never forget that it's the labor on the Home Front that enables them to fight. There is true dignity and achievement attached to the less spectacular daily job of keeping the wheels turning at home.

Water is an essential industry. Great quantities are needed to make munitions of war. Pure water is needed to maintain the health of war workers, paid and voluntary.

Water works employes under business management are mindful of the large share they have in the war effort. They are working harder than ever before to maintain water service. And you can depend on it—THEY WILL KEEP IT FLOWING.

New Industry Started by Green Camp Men

A new industry, the manufacture of an adjustable bed rest designed primarily for use in sickness in the home, has been established at Green Camp by N. H. Clinger and John W. Williams. The men recently leased the room formerly occupied by the Schultz grocery store and the manufacture of the product has already started with two workmen employed. The article is made of tempered presswood and when not in use can be folded for storing.

Mr. Clinger, president and sales manager of the industry, has a broad experience in this field as a former sales representative of furniture manufacturing concerns. The idea originated with Mr. Williams, postmaster at Green Camp, who has obtained a patent on it.

The use of visiting cards is generally believed to have originated during the reign of Louis XIV of France.

4 Basic Issues In Presidential Race, Survey Indicates

By GEORGE GALLUP
Director, American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J., July 10—Insofar as issues are important in an election as compared to the personality of candidates, this year's pre-Sentinal campaign will turn on four main issues.

Republican and Democratic strategists will have to deal pribarily with these four issues because while many things will be discussed, the public's own thinking goes back in the end to the four points. The issues are shown in a nationwide survey which asked the voters of the country to name the main arguments for voting for Roosevelt, if he runs, and the main arguments for voting against him.

As the people see it, the two main arguments for voting for Roosevelt are these:

1. He has a wider first-hand knowledge of the war situation than his opponent and is therefore better fitted by experience to handle it.

2. The middle of the war is no time to change administrations.

The Dewey forces will, in short, have to convince the country that they can offer something to offset Roosevelt's advantage of long experience in international affairs, and that a Republican victory will not delay the winning of the war and the return of our soldiers from the front.

The two main arguments for voting against Roosevelt are, in the minds of the people, as follows:

1. His domestic policies have been wastefully and inefficiently carried out, with too much bureaucracy, red-tape and assertion of dictatorial power not only over the people, but over Congress.

2. No man should hold public office for as long as Roosevelt has. It is high time for a change.

Thus the Democratic forces must offset or minimize the charge of bungling on the home front, while convincing the country that the present war situation warrants breaking all tradition and keeping the same man in office for sixteen years.

Marion Seaman Writes of Part in Invasion

Coxswain Stanley Spires of the U. S. amphibious forces stationed in England wrote recently to his mother, Mrs. Floyd Spires of 779 Silver street, of his part in the invasion of France. He stated his ship was second in the formation which first reached the coast of France, was badly damaged and is now back in port in England for repairs—before going out on another mission. He told also of helping to take from the water friends he had known in boot training in this country whose craft had been sunk by enemy action. He has been overseas since Dec. 1.

SUPERFORTRESS...ALL-AMERICAN

New Boeing B-29 built by nation-wide teamwork

Every enemy airfield, shipyard, factory and camp now lies within reach of American bomber crews. In the hands of the men who fly them with courage and skill and spirit, the Superfortresses are a world-wide force.

The first smashing blows at the enemy's heart dramatically prove the wisdom of our Army Air Forces' long-range planning . . . for the B-29 is the fruit of more than 5 years of development by the A.A.F. Materiel Command and Boeing engineers.

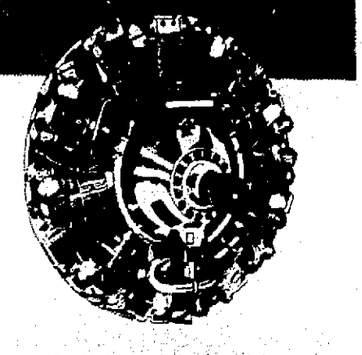
It takes a nation to make it

Boeing designed and engineered the Superfortress. Wright Aeronautical designed the engines that drive its great weight. And thousands of mills and factories and plants all over America share in making its parts, instruments, power and armament.

All Chrysler divisions work on the B-29

Chrysler Corporation builds huge, 2200-hp. engines — long, massive nose cabins with their intricate controls — streamlined engine cowlings — and massive leading edges of the wings. Chrysler-engineered production, applied with imagination, has succeeded in producing these vital sections in large quantities.

With typical Chrysler teamwork, Chrysler divisions work together on this job, and co-operate with more than 5000 other companies that supply materials and parts for our share of the B-29.



GIANT ENGINES — 18 cylinders — 2200 horsepower! Large quantities of the B-29's Wright Cyclone engines are built by Chrysler Corporation in the mammoth, mile-square Dodge-Chicago Plant constructed solely for this purpose.

UP FRONT! The Superfortress's long, slim nose cabin, its streamlined engine cowlings and massive wing "leading edges" (all shown dark) are produced by De Soto, working in close teamwork with other Chrysler Corporation divisions.

Match their sacrifice first . . .

then say you've done all you can!

Too many people are saying "We're doing all we can do . . . we can't possibly buy ANOTHER bond" . . . but are they? Have they struggled against the hard-fighting enemy until they fell where they were . . . utterly exhausted? That's really giving all you have . . . that is doing everything possible . . . but nothing short of such an all-out effort is real sacrifice. What if you do have to watch the pennies a little closer, do without some of the things you like? It is worth that and much more to be an American . . . in Ohio.

DO YOU KNOW THESE 5 FACTS ABOUT WAR BONDS ?

1. War Bonds cost $18.75 for which you receive $25 in 10 years — or $4 for every $3.
2. War Bonds are the world's safest investment—guaranteed by the United States Government.
3. War Bonds can be made out in 1 name — or in 2, as co-owners.
4. War Bonds CANNOT go down in value. If they are lost, the Government will issue new ones.
5. War Bonds can be redeemed, in case of necessity, after 60 days.

Presidential Dilemma

[illegible] probably that President [illegible] up [illegible] for the Mr. Roosevelt's [illegible] the United States as a matter [illegible] from all [illegible] Aside from the most pressing [illegible] could not be expected by the [illegible] of [illegible] go[illegible]—and certainly [illegible] by our own people—to expose [illegible] to unnecessary risk.

[illegible] may pose and probably has posed in [illegible] a dilemma for Mr. Roosevelt. He may want to do things as an individual [illegible] could not be done out of consideration [illegible] safety as a public figure. He has made [illegible] trips during his years in office which, [illegible] they turned out all right, would have led to very serious recriminations. If they had turned out otherwise, and it is not to be imagined that his character has changed.

Mr. Roosevelt alone can make the decisions [illegible] where he will go as the nation's chief executive, but if he will take into consideration the feeling of the people he will make no trips which cannot be justified as imperative. It is impossible to believe that a trip to Europe for any reason could be justified as imperative, up to and including the possibility of an Allied conference to accept Germany's surrender.

China Gets Up at Nine

[illegible] are in order again for underestimating China's comeback power. The [illegible] lifting of the siege of Hengyang, key city in Japan's drive to isolate the South China coast, is in the best tradition of Chinese fighting.

The Chinese have been the most predictable nation in World war II. They always come back. Lacking details of the Hengyang comeback, we may know that this time the still limited, but ever-increasing, power of China's allies had something to do with the comeback. United States planes clearly had something to do with it. Allied military power in Burma and the promise of increasing help from that direction helped. The naval drive in the Central Pacific which made the Japanese try to seize Hengyang also helped.

China's war is bitter—better not only for the Chinese but for their allies whose hands are tied by inability to overcome Japan's early advantages. The ultimate role of Chinese fighting men waits on events still in the making, but one thing is certain. They have fought so long and so well with so little that when real aid comes they cannot help but fight better. Again and again, it has appeared that they were about to get knocked out, but that is an illusion peculiar to occidentals apparently. The Chinese do not get knocked out. They rise on the count of nine.

OPA Ceiling

IT IS likely that constant attention to ceilings might have Freudian results and interesting to speculate on the evidence supplied when the temperature hit 110 in the OPA office in Cleveland the other afternoon.

At that point, it seems, the head of the OPA office, or perhaps the employes, decided it was time to close up shop and go home. Apparently, 110 represented a temperature ceiling to these [illegible] employes—an arbitrary limit. Where others panted, loosened their collars, fluffed their skirts and said, "Gosh it's hot," the OPA mind concluded 110 was the limit.

We shall ignore the suspicion that this is what bureaucracy leads to and shall say nothing about regimentation, which defines limits on every detail of existence, up to and including reasonable temperatures.

But it is a good thing, is it not, that whoever brought about the OPA decision to go home when the temperature hit 110 did not bring it about anywhere? The services of the OPA office could be spared for an afternoon, but not the services of the host of active men in the OPA price and rationing offices, ranging above and below 110.

So They Say—

With almost 12,000,000 men in uniform and absent from the polls this fall, it isn't difficult to realize that the hand that shakes the ballot this year will rule the ballot.—Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker.

Early Poll in N. Y. State

Whereas Willkie received 39 per cent of the major party vote in the city, the Dewey lead today is 5 points higher. Since the city casts approximately one-half the vote of the state, the increased [illegible]

Decisive Importance

[illegible] New York is always a key [illegible] presidential elections because [illegible] the largest number [illegible] 47. If Dewey [illegible] New York it will not [illegible] but [illegible] to carry the state [illegible] going to the [illegible] it are very keen.

An [illegible] victory during a long war [illegible] workers at five major production areas of the country found they only contributed 142 per cent more trouble to vote in the 1942 Congressional elections—a factor which contributed greatly to the Democratic loss of seats in the House of Representatives.

Roosevelt is strong [illegible] the young voters of New York state, while Dewey is the favorite of the elderly voters. This division of Republican-Democratic sentiment by age groups has been found ever since Roosevelt took office in 1932. Sixty per cent of all civilian voters in New York between the ages of 21 and 29 say they would prefer Roosevelt to Dewey; those between the ages of 30 and 49 are 5 per cent for Dewey by the slight majority of 51 per cent; while those 50 years and over are pro-Dewey by 53 per cent.

Frequent Polls Planned

Between now and November the Institute will report almost weekly the results of its presidential polls in various states and throughout the nation. The Institute's researches are underwritten by newspapers of all political persuasion — some Democratic, some Republican, some Independent. The poll has only one interest — namely, reporting the facts of public opinion. Because of its public character, the Gallup Poll has made its figures available to both political parties as well as to bona fide students of current events.

American, British and Canadian troops land on a 160-mile front in southeastern Sicily at 6 a. m. under protection of a three-hour barrage laid down by naval guns; Axis reports indicate Allied landings at Cape Bocca and in the Trapani area, in the western part of Sicily, and at Gela, in the southeast.

Author of the Week

By John Selby
Associated Press Book Reviewer.

"ANNA and the King of Siam" will not be forgotten soon. It is a fabulous book unique as well, and its peculiar flavor comes from the fact that it combines the incongruities of a far eastern court in the 60's with the Victorian tradition as exemplified by Anna herself, a British woman. A very British woman. The book has been assembled by Margaret Landon from the writings of Anna Leonowens herself, from old Siamese records and many other sources. It is the current Literary Guild choice, and it is also Anna in Wonderland.

MARGARET LANDON

Anna was a young widow with two children. She tried to teach in Singapore, and failed financially. So she sent her daughter back to England, and went with her son Louis to Bangkok as English teacher to the King's children, and such ladies of the court as might be interested. This was in the early years of our own War Between the States, an event that got itself mixed oddly with the Siamese scene, through Anna and also through a letter from the King to Abraham Lincoln. King Mongkut wanted to send Lincoln a lot of elephants for breeding purposes.

There was a small British-American colony in Bangkok, but Anna lived apart from them. She spoke sternly, yet sympathetically, to the world of the King's thousands of women: wives, daughters, Amazons, concubines, slaves. She became Mongkut's secretary, after a fashion. Anna's looks were more than satisfactory, but she refused Mongkut's delicate offer of a place in the harem, and little by little she began to scheme against slavery. "Uncle Tom's Cabin" was one of her weapons, and another was her own incorruptibility.

There are dozens of scenes in the book so fantastic they make the reader gasp. Mongkut, for example, infuriated because a missionary said he was a "spare" man, giving a dinner to prove himself, and pouring rose water over a beautiful English girl; Anna making English court costumes for Siamese beauties overnight, painting their dark faces white, scraping their black teeth. Anna buying a girl baby—and remaining a true Briton through it all.

It's Real!

The plight of many girls that [illegible] just about any eligible [illegible] is borne out by a new [illegible] of the census study which [illegible] that there are only 1,700,000 unmarried men in the age [illegible] to lay between 20 and 34 years [illegible] compared with more than 3,000,000 unmarried women in [illegible] age group.

[illegible] all the more significant [illegible] revealed in the heat of a [illegible] wartime year (1940) [illegible] married men in the 20-34 [illegible] outnumbered unmarried men by almost 3-to-2. [illegible] also highlights the [illegible] marriages between [illegible] with the percentage of [illegible] women between 20 and 24 years of age increased from [illegible] 58.7 per cent, between 25 and 34 years of age [illegible] 77 per cent to 82 per cent. For women over 14 years old, the percentage married rose from 52.6 per cent to 59.5 per cent. The [illegible] nature of this increase is indicated by the fact [illegible] decades 1920-[illegible] married changed by a fraction of 1 per cent.

Canning Dangers

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO—The safest way to preserve fruits and vegetables is by the boiling water bath and the oven kettle method, says the National Safety Council after a study of 1943 canning accidents.

Eighty per cent of last year's home canning accidents were caused by the oven canning method, the council said. About 15 per cent were caused by pressure canning. Comparatively few mishaps occurred when open kettles and boiling water were used.

More accidents occurred with beans than with any other vegetable.

New Preservatives

By The Associated Press

EAST LANSING, Mich.—Scientists at the Michigan State college experiment station have developed two methods of treating eggs which they predict would keep them "strictly fresh" for months.

One method gives the eggs an oil coating to which a small amount of preservative has been added. The other, the scientists say, freezes the eggs for home use, preserving them indefinitely.

Ad Wins Freedom

By The Associated Press

KINGSPORT, Tenn.—Less than an hour after the edition hit the street, the police station telephone started to ring steadily. A house painter in jail had advertised he would do a $15 paint job for $10, the amount between him and freedom.

By 6 p. m. he was free—and the desk sergeant reported 200 calls for the prisoner and a desire to shoot the reporter who'd taken the prisoner's ad.

Threat To Electoral College

By Jack Stinnett

WASHINGTON — Proof that Washington isn't fearing lightly the threat of the anti-Roosevelt factions in Texas and other southern states to bolt the party in the electoral college is evident.

Rep. Emanuel Celler, Brooklyn Democrat and No. 2 man on the house judiciary committee already has offered a bill to amend the constitution to abolish what he calls "the outworn, useless cumbersome electoral college."

The electoral college has functioned so smoothly in our lifetime that few voters realize it exists at all. The indirect method of naming electors, apportioned according to population, started far back in the days when communication and travel took weeks and even months.

What They Propose

What the Texas faction and groups in Mississippi, South Carolina, Louisiana and elsewhere threatened was to name "uninstructed" electors who would be instructed by the party conventions not to vote for President Roosevelt for a fourth term or Vice President Wallace for a second, unless the party, in convention, met certain demands.

Some of these demands could be met by party platform silence on certain controversial issues, such as the poll tax. Others would require positive action, tossing overboard some of the policies of the administration.

Many observers here consider the threats no more than bargaining material with which the southern Democrats hope to get written into the platform and possibly in the nomination of a vice presidential candidate some of the things they want when the Democratic convention meets in July.

They Show Concern

Others, like Rep. Celler, disregard the motives, but "view with alarm" the fact that sectional party leaders could use those methods to control the electoral college.

The meaning of such a threat, if carried out, is evident. If neither party nominee got a majority of the electoral vote, the election of President and vice president would be thrown into the House of Representatives, where, by our constitution, each state would have only one vote, regardless of its population size. Idaho, with only a half a million population, would have as much say in naming our next chief executive as New York, with over 13,000,000.

It takes months to years to amend the constitution. But a number of congressmen feel that the Texans may have started the ball rolling toward abolition of the electoral college.

Words of the Wise

Honesty is one part of eloquence. We persuade others by being in earnest ourselves.—Hazlitt.

True eloquence does not consist in speech. It must consist in the man, in the subject, and in the occasion.—Daniel Webster.

True dignity abides with him alone
Who, in the silent hour of inward thought,

In lowliness of heart.

Camping Trip

By Truman Twill

The preparations for sending a boy camping for 10 days are simple and may be handled successfully by any two adults in no more time than it took Rear Admiral Byrd to get ready to go to the south pole. This, however, will not include the hours spent by the boy's father gabbing about what a hot shot he used to be in the camping days.

Naturally, the boy must have plenty of tooth powder and a new tooth brush, both of which will be brought home at the end of the 10 days in an undamaged condition. There must be plenty of towels and wash cloths so these can be rumpled, but otherwise left strictly alone.

He must be furnished with enough bed clothing to spend a winter inside the arctic circle, though he is going only a few miles away and to the south. In case it turns chilly and comes on to snow and blow in July, he also must have along extra clothing to withstand extreme temperatures, ranging down to 10 above.

As to the matter of stockings, it is hard to know what to do because of the inevitable accidental wet feet, so it will seem advisable to send along all the stockings available, and these can be brought home in the condition they are in at the time of departure, except for one or two pair at the most. The other 14 pairs will make good ballast.

There is no room for anything more, but room must be found also for shirts, shorts, underwear, extra shoes, hats, assorted pairs of pants, fishing tackle, bathing suits, sunburn ointment, correspondence cards to be sent home commercial style, writing implements, field glasses, reading material, flashlights, hair-cutting equipment which will not be used and miscellaneous articles amounting in bulk to a good load for a three-quarter-ton truck.

When soap, towels, wash cloths and other minimum essentials have been salvaged after the ensuing elimination of dispensable articles there still will be enough for the boy to get on during six months in the wilds and it will be tied up and made secure somehow, ready for the takeoff.

In short, with no effort on his part, the boy will have learned the great American fallacy of going camping, which is to plan to take every thing that is not nailed down, then to cut this down 50 per cent, only to end up with 50 per cent too much and to discover when it's all over that the expedition could have been handled much better by taking only what could be carried in the pockets, plus a little something to roll up in at night.

The young camper will be an early victim of the national folly of excess baggage, which will plague him as long as he lives and still in his dreams of going camping some time will have a lot of unnecessary fuss and junk. And there isn't a thing he can do about it as long as women help men get ready for camping trips.

CHOICE OF V. P. UP TO PARTY

President Reported Ready To Let Wallace Stand or Fall on Own Record.

By The Associated Press

The word spread in Democratic circles today that President Roosevelt apparently has decided to let Henry A. Wallace stand or fall on his own record and to leave entirely to the Democratic national convention the choice of a 1944 vice-presidential nominee.

That report, on which most party leaders are proceeding came as Wallace headed toward Washington to report to Mr. Roosevelt Tuesday and to reappraise the political scene after several weeks in China and Russia. Doubts as to a fourth term nomination for the President no longer are expressed.

Word seeping from inner party councils indicated that if the convention consults the Chief Executive as to his wishes, he will express a preference for Wallace. He may let the preference be known anyway.

Won't Dictate Choice

But he is represented as not prepared to dictate a choice to the convention, which starts July 19 in Chicago. Wallace has his supporters, but there is a strong element of opposition to him in party ranks, much of it from the south. Virginia emphasized that Saturday by voting to instruct its 24 delegates to the convention to ballot against Wallace for renomination.

Wallace said in a radio broadcast at Seattle last night that "I am today more than ever an American * * * the American way of life is the best way for us."

Virginia left her delegates uninstructed on the presidential issue but told them to vote as a unit. The action completed the list of 1,176 convention's delegate votes, which are lined up this way on the basis of unofficial tabulations:

Needed to nominate 589.
Pledged to Roosevelt 552.
Claimed for Roosevelt 408.
Pledged and claimed for former Gov. Joseph B. Ely of Massachusetts 3.
Uninstructed and unclaimed 213.

In his Seattle speech, Wallace remarked that "unfair freight rates" long had held back the northwest. In the same connection Senator Stewart (D-Tenn) said at Washington that he intends to sponsor a platform plank advocating rail rate parity for the south and west with the east.

Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York, the Republican presidential nominee, after a brief Sunday at his Pawling, N. Y., home, returned to Albany to resume campaign talks with Republican leaders in congress.

Dewey won the unqualified endorsement of Samuel F. Pryor of Connecticut, Wendell L. Willkie's western campaign manager in 1940.

Gov. J. M. Broughton of North Carolina, a candidate for the vice presidential nomination, said at Chicago that victory, jobs and peace will be the Democrats' three great issues.

The Republicans' congressional food study committee issued a report over the week-end in Washington condemning virtually all the government's wartime food program and charging that inefficiency is to blame for "the insidious illegal black market."

OPENING UNION SERVICES HELD

Rev. E. H. Wierth Is Speaker; U. B. Group Conducts Youth Meeting.

Trinity Baptist church was host Sunday night to the first of the series of Union Sunday night services of downtown Marion churches and to the meeting of the Christian Young People's Union. Rev. E. H. Wierth of First Evangelical and Reformed church was the speaker for the adult service and the youth meeting was in charge of First United Brethren group. Dr. W. P. Behan, host pastor, presided. Rev. E. M. Hertzler read scripture and Rev. Marvin Crabtree offered prayer.

Rev. Wierth's subject was "What Shall It Profit?" from the text "What shall it profit a man if he gain the whole world and lose his soul?" Applying the text to a civilization, he asked, "What happens to a civilization when it neglects spiritual values?" He used Old Testament illustrations and cited recent history in order to show that "our civilization has become materialistic." He said in part, "A civilization that loses its sense of spiritual values becomes reactionary," he stated, "first in morals, as after the last world war when literary writers attempted to 'debunk' all ideals and called the common and the ordinary the 'reality'; second in politics, wherein the people, unlike Abraham of the Bible, the believer in God who was not afraid to adventure, were afraid to build a new world of cooperation but tried to establish instead a policy of isolationism.

"A Godless civilization becomes a stupid civilization. The marvelous electric display of the 'great white way' does not amount to much. Airplanes can write mile high letters in the sky but those do no amount to much. Many times movies are degrading and the radio gives out nonsense. A civilization that forgets God finally goes to pieces—for example, the insanity of world wars one after the other."

In conclusion he quoted the words of Woodrow Wilson, "A civilization cannot survive materially unless it is redeemed spiritually."

First Evangelical and Reformed church will be host for the services next Sunday and Rev. J. A. Carriker of Forst Lawn Presbyterian will preach.

The topic for the C. Y. P. U. meeting was "Personal Victory With Christ." On the program were Miss Dorothy Bolander, Mrs. Myrtle Gantt, Dorothy Barnhart, Jackie Gantt and the U. B. orchestra.

Week-End Brings Allies Good News from All Fronts

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

This has been a gratifying week-end for Allied arms the world around, with substantial victories recorded in Normandy and Russia, and American completion of the bloody conquest of the strategic island of Saipan in the central Pacific.

The Allies have made important progress in Normandy. They finally have ripped the German battle-line loose from its bitterly defended anchors at both ends. The Canadians and British took the ancient city of Caen on the Nazi eastern flank after 35 days of hell, while the Americans captured La Haye Du Puits on the western wing in the face of stubborn resistance.

The fall of Caen is of particular importance because this island port and railway center was the key point of the German defense of the peninsula. Had we been able to take this stronghold early in the invasion, it would have made a great difference in our progress in breaking into the French hinterland — progress which the Allied command had hoped would be much further ahead than it is now.

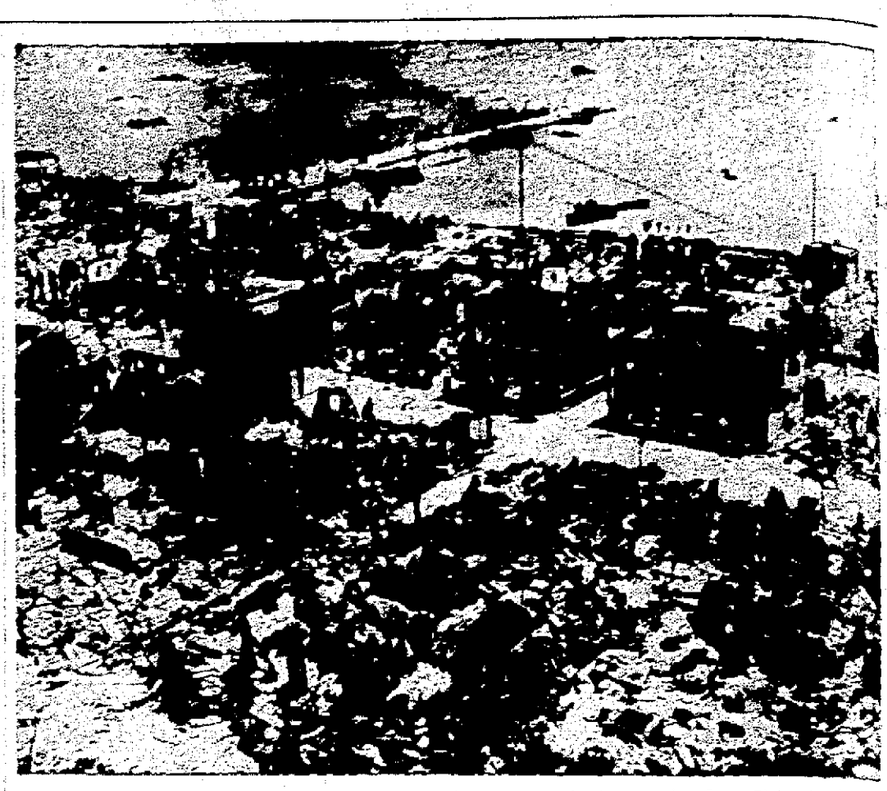
However, supreme Allied headquarters cautions us not to regard the victory at Caen as a major defeat of the Germans in the field, although it is a "serious reverse." The significance of the capture of Caen and La Haye Du Puits is that it paves the way for the decisive battle which we must win before we can free the peninsula of the enemy and thereby enable our forces to reach the open roads to Paris and Berlin. This great clash may be expected soon.

While the invasion of Normandy has struck some very sticky going thus far, things are rounding up so that the wheels should turn much faster from now on. Once the great port of Cherbourg is repaired—and its restoration has been a titanic engineering job—the Allies will be able to pour into the peninsula a flood of men and equipment which the Germans cannot withstand.

Over on the eastern front the great Russian offensive was surging forward with a speed and force which threatened to produce a collapse of the German defense of the Baltic States and East Prussia. The Red forces were fighting inside Lithuania and were reported to be only about 80 miles from East Prussia.

The American conquest of Saipan is a major victory. This island is the best airbase we have in the central Pacific and its possession opens up great possibilities. From Saipan our super-bombers can reach both Tokyo and the Philippines, which lie approximately 1,500 miles away, and we can comb important Japanese sea communications. This island also affords great possibilities as a naval supply base.

The twenty-five day battle of Saipan was a sanguinary affair. Associated Press War Correspondent Rembert James says that probably 95 per cent of the Japanese force, estimated at more than 20,000, was destroyed. The little men of Nippon made a suicidal defense.



CAPITAL OF SAIPAN AFTER AMERICAN BLASTING. Just the walls of buildings remain after U. S. land, sea, and air forces had shelled and bombed Garapan, capital of Saipan, in the Marianas. When this photo was taken, the city was still the scene of bitter street fighting between our forces and the retreating Japs. Since the island was invaded, our troops have buried approximately 5,000 Nipponese officers and enlisted men.

2 LIMA CONVICTS SEIZED IN INDIANA

By The Associated Press

LIMA, O., July 10—The capture of two Lima state hospital escapees—John Rosseau, 21, of Cincinnati, and Marco Collins, 30, of Columbus, was announced by Dr. R. E. Bushong, hospital superintendent.

Bushong said the men escaped from the institution with Louis Martini, 26, a Puerto Rican, and Samuel Bonecutter, 18, of Columbus, and were taken into custody in Fort Wayne, Ind., Saturday. The latter two were charged with assault, robbery and kidnaping in an attack on Mrs. Minnie Cramer, 74, of near Delphos, robbery of Adam Backus who stopped to visit Mrs. Cramer and the kidnaping of his son, Albert, last Monday night.

Martini pleaded innocent to all charges and Bonecutter entered a guilty plea to the assault charge. They were held for $5,000 bond on each charge.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Coffman and their son James were charged with harboring and concealing Martini and Bonecutter after their escape. Mrs. Coffman was released on her own recognizance and the Coffman men were freed on $1,000 bond after they pleaded innocent.

FRANCE

The forces of Field Marshal Gen. Erwin Rommel were mauled badly in the fierce fighting for Caen, with the major part of two divisions trapped in pockets north of the river Orne by the swift British advance. But the bulk of the German troops engaged in the area staged an "organized retreat," in the words of the supreme command, and took a new stand along the south bank of the Orne.

The Germans' whole Normandy front was described as in "a state of strain" today.

Gen. Omar N. Bradley's American First army advanced an average of a mile along many parts of the Cherbourg peninsula front. In the St. Jean De Daye sector it captured Cavigney, three miles southeast of St. Jean, and also Le Desert, two miles southwest.

Today Allied troops were on the move everywhere along the Normandy front except in the sector from St. Lo to Caumont. German lines were being bulged to the bursting point.

Canadians Take Airfield

Canadian troops took Carpiquet airfield and some field dispatches said they had crossed the river Odon southwest of Caen, but there was no immediate confirmation of such a development at the supreme command.

The German position was precarious on two counts:

1. It was believed the Germans had not been able to destroy all the bridges across the Orne river in their rapid retreat.

2. The British long have held desperately to a bridgehead across the Orne from a mile north of the suburb to the sea and this now is paying big dividends. This bridgehead threatens the German flank, for an attack south from the bridgehead would cut off all the Germans in the suburb.

The use of Caen as a port will be impossible for the Allies until German lines are cleared well south of the Orne. A naval officer said Caen could take ships up to 6,000 tons under the best tidal conditions, but for the most part it could be used only by 3,000-ton coastal ships.

Although the town's docks were destroyed, the canal leading from the sea has been in Allied hands since D-day and is largely intact.

A British attack between Caumont and Tilly-Sur-Seulles resulted in a violent German counter-attack. The situation was described as "confused," with little progress made by either side.

British Evacuate Robot Bomb Target Areas

By The Associated Press

LONDON, July 10—Evacuation of women and children from London and various cities in southern England continued in orderly fashion today as the German flying bomb offensive went into its 26th day.

More than 50,000 children alone already have been moved out of the immediate danger zone.

It was a noisy night as the Germans took advantage of overcast skies over Dover strait to sneak their robot planes through the dense wall. An official announcement acknowledged damage and casualties in both London and the southern counties.

Before darkness set in, however, fighter pilots were credited with shooting down a considerable number of the buzz bombs into the sea.

miles southeast of Mindanao, were captured within five days last week. Noemfoor and the nearby Schouten islands, where the Americans hold four airdromes on Biak and Owi, surmount New Guinea's huge Geelvink bay, with its possibilities for elaborate naval development.

Organized resistance of Saipan collapsed rather suddenly, Adm. Chester W. Nimitz announced, following a day of suicidal counter-attacks that penetrated the American lines in some places as much as 2,000 yards but cost the enemy 1,500 dead.

At least 11,100 Japaneso—probably thousands more—were killed, and more than 7,000 enemy civilians were imprisoned. American casualties to June 28 were 1,474 dead and 8,278 wounded.

Japs Pay Heavily

Japan's frantic defense of Saipan cost her at least 58 ships and more than 900 airplanes. The Americans lost 172 planes, and had four ships damaged.

Hundreds, perhaps thousands, of snipers still infested Saipan's caves and thickets—a ticklish situation which Marines of the Second and Fourth divisions and soldiers of the 27th division agreed was well in hand.

Communiques from Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters over the week-end told of savage mopping-up on Noemfoor, where an additional 410 Japanese were killed with "very light" American losses, and on Biak, with 213 enemy casualties.

Col. Albert L. Warner, of the army's bureau of public relations, estimated that 60,000 Japanese have been killed in the central and southwest Pacific areas in the last seven months, 40,000 in Burma and India, and thousands more in China.

About 100,000 tons of steel ingots are required to build and equip a big battleship.

DE GAULLE

pressing his satisfaction with the talks with the President, Secretary of State Hull and other officials. Then he answered questions freely.

His statement and remarks made several points:

De Gaulle said France has no ambitions to annex territories either in Europe or in colonial areas but "for reasons of international security and in the interest of French security certain practical measures may be necessary with respect to territories where the flag of the French army may well have to fly. He agreed that he referred to French occupation of the Rhineland and said it might have to cover many years.

For the proper civil administration of French territories now being liberated an agreement is needed among the United States, Britain and the French National Committee. De Gaulle said the atmosphere of friendliness and understanding achieved by the President and himself may lead to an agreement.

The general expects to go into France "as soon as possible to install the services of the government but the creation of a new capital is a very complicated matter and needs much preparation."

De Gaulle refrained from indicating that he had made any specific commitments to the President or that the President had made any to him. It was clear that nothing had been done about the key question of recognition of the French Committee of National Liberation by the United States.

This, however, deliberately had been excluded from the talks beforehand in order that discussions might revolve around problems on which some agreement was possible.

...ACE HORSES SAVED IN CLEVELAND FIRE

...Here Many in Mar... ...tle Grand Meet.

Grand Circuit races were saved as fire spread through barns at the North Randall race track near Cleveland Saturday afternoon. Quartered at the track were 80 harness racers.

A loss of $75,000 was estimated as the blaze which spread as 2,500 spectators awaited the start of a race.

Among five barns reached by the flames was that of Ben White, 74-year-old driver who appeared at the Marion meet. Horses in the barn included Whitey's Lazy Be Good, which won a heat Saturday, and Rosa Dean, both contenders for this year's Hambletonian Rayland and Kaola, both noted horses, were also in the barn.

Flames also spread to See Palin's barn where Worthy Boy and Indian Land were in stalls. Mr. Palin was also a driver in the recent Marion races.

Judge Joseph McGraw, judge at the Little Grand Circuit races here, noticed from his chair in the Cleveland stand Saturday what he thought was especially strong sunlight reflected from a window in one of the North Randall barns. Putting his field glasses to his eyes, he was shocked to see flames racing through the building.

Within a few seconds fire was eating its way through the roof of one of a group of seven barns near the far turn of the track. Race fans were startled by the appearance of flames as they were waiting for Volo Song and other famed trotters to run the first heat of the Championship Stallion stake.

Barns destroyed included the "old Tommy Murphy barn" and "old Walter Cox barn," named for race notables who have quartered horses there in the past. The horses of Driver Harry Whitney had been rushed out of the Cox barns.

Although crowds attending races had been asked to remain away from the scene of the fire, they crowded in the infield near the intense heat. Horses were removed to the stables at Thistle Down race track across the road, and all sorts of racing equipment, hurriedly removed, littered an area out of reach of flames.

Missouri cottontail rabbits rear 3.8 litters annually, with an average of 4.4 animals in each.

Marion Splits Doubleheader With Newark; Sweep Springfield Series

Cubs Drop First Sunday Game 17-2, Win Second 4-1.

By BOB COCHERL
Marion Star Sports Writer

The Marion Cubs romped down a rocky lane as they won two out of three games at Lawson park over the week-end. Saturday night they defeated Springfield 9 to 2 for their fourth straight victory over the Giants. Sunday, Newark came here, after losing three straight to Middletown, and walloped the locals in the first game to the tune of 17 to 2. However the second game turned out to be anything but a runaway, as the Cubs won by the score of 4 to 1.

First Game

In the first game of a double header against Newark it was a murder as the Moundsmen seemed to have a liking for batsmen. Art Packe, Marion hurler, dished out 19 runs, but the visitors got 22 hits, one a home run by Don Garver, and the Cubs could garner only four hits off the offerings of Jack Bellamy, 22 year old Newark hurler.

Garver, Cubs' moundsman, was tapped for twelve safeties, including a triple by Packe, but only four of them were good for extra bases. Garver was in trouble all the way, but managed to get by with a 17 to 2 victory.

The Moundsmen started off by scoring in getting started as they scored two runs in the first inning on four walks and a single. Then in the third they batted out two singles and a triple put together with two fielder's choices and a walk to score three more markers. Again in the fourth they scored three, this time on a walk and three consecutive singles. The fifth was their biggest inning as they scored five runs on doubles by Koppa and Barnes, singles by Garver, Penni and Majorki, and a fielder's choice by Case. In the sixth they scored two on Koppa's single, Barnes' triple and Garver's fly to centerfield. Then they tallied two more in the seventh as Majorki was safe on a fielder's choice with Case hitting his homer over the left field fence.

Marion's first tally came as Packe tripled to the right center field fence and scored on the overthrow to third. In the fifth, Broukal singled to right and came home as Bob Kuhlman doubled to deep center field.

Second Game

The second abbreviated contest was quite a contrast to the first game as in the second game Newark was able to get but one hit off the offerings of Stan Ostrowski. This hit was the means of their only run. Bob McDonald tripled to the right center field wall. In the fifth inning, to score as Lee Barnes filed out to Broukal in right field.

Marion liked the looks of Jenkins' slants right from the start as they scored three of their four runs in the first inning. Smith led off by grounding out, pitcher to first. Al Jeski, Marion's first base star, then singled to left field and scored on Morneweg's double, which bounced over the left field wall. Joe Bellamy also doubled, as his hit through second took a bad bounce, allowing Morneweg to score. Then Don Carlsen hit to left field and as the ball bounced bad made a two bagger scoring Bellamy. Broukals' liner to second ended the rally. With two out in the fifth Bellamy doubled off the third baseman's shin and Don Carlsen hit his second double to score Bellamy. This was all the locals needed however as Stan Ostrowski had the moundsmen eating out of his hand most of the time.

Garver's victory stretched his string to 12 wins and three losses as Packe lost his fourth game in seven starts. Ostrowski's victory gave him his second win in seven tries and Jenkins raised his number of losses to six against eight wins.

Saturday Game

Saturday's fracas was another one of those photo-finishes as the locals battled uphill all the way to win in the last inning by scoring three runs. Skip Wilgamot's team jumped the locals for three runs in the first inning on a walk, two errors and a single, then followed up with one run in each of the next five frames.

The locals tallied three in the third on a walk, single, triple and double and two more in the fourth on a fielder's choice, a single, another walk and an attempted double play. Marion scored one more run in the seventh on a single and double to come within two runs of knotting the score. Then came the all important ninth inning.

Jeski, first man up, doubled to right. Granzig who had hit a homer the night before, slapped the apple over the left-center field wall. Morneweg then hit a hot ground ball down third base line for a single but was out attempting to steal second. Vickery grounded out short to first. Carlsen, safe on third baseman's error, stole second. Bellamy, batting for Broukal, sent another low liner toward third which Dernier bobbled, allowing Carlsen to take third. Bob Kuhlman, latest arrival, then singled to left field scoring Carlsen and ending the ball game.

Augie Granzig's fifth-inning home run, last Friday, brought him a $25 war bond given by a local merchant to any local boy hitting a home run over his advertising sign on the left field fence or to any pitcher pitching a shutout during the season.

Tonight Red Bailey will show his wares in an effort to boost his record to nine wins and five setbacks.

LEO DUROCHER ON UNEASY SEAT AS LOSSES REACH 13

Brooklyn Matches Cubs' Losing Streak; Yankees Turn Tables on Tigers.

By The Associated Press

Manager Leo Durocher of the Brooklyn Dodgers seems to be on the spot again. His position, shaky the past few years, has been made more precarious than ever by the current losing streak of the Dodgers, which reached 13 officially yesterday.

Brooklyn's 13th successive loss, which matched the season's low set by the Cubs, was handed them by the Pittsburgh Pirates 10-1 in the opener of a doubleheader yesterday. They almost tied the longest losing streak in the history of the club when they trailed 6-7 in the nightcap, called at the end of eight innings by Pennsylvania's 8:50 curfew law. The game will be completed later.

After going seven out of nine to beat the New York Yankees made a clean face and swept a war relief doubleheader from the Tigers, 4-3 and 8-2 before 33,482, who paid $38,102.50. The double victory moved the Yankees to within a game of the second place Boston Red Sox.

The league leading St. Louis Browns and the Washington Senators exchanged shutouts. The Browns, behind Newman Shirley's two-hit pitching, won the first 10-0 and the Senators with Dutch Leonard pitching five-hit ball, took the second, 5-0.

The Red Sox and Cleveland split their double header, the Indians winning the opener 8-2 and Red Sox the second 4-2. Bobby Doerr of the Red Sox became the first American league batter to make 100 hits.

Frank Hayes banged his 10th homer as the Chicago White Sox and the Philadelphia Athletics divided their twin bill, the White Sox taking the opener 4-3 for Bill Dietrich's 10th victory, and the A's annexing the finale 8-2.

The St. Louis Cardinals handed the Boston Braves a double blanking, with Mort Cooper winning his 10th game in the opener 1-0 as Stan Musial and brother Walker Cooper combined to score the lone run off Jim Tobin. Harry Brecheen gained his seventh win in the nightcap 9-0.

The Chicago Cubs climbed out of the cellar as they defeated the New York Giants twice, 6-2 and 1-0. Claude Passeau shaded Bill Voiselle in the second game as Andy Pafko singled with the bases loaded in the sixth inning.

The Cincinnati Reds moved to within five percentage points of second place with a double victory over Philadelphia 9-5 and 7-5.

Senko Still Tops Batters

Steve Senko, Middletown's outfielder, continues to lead the league with his .381 average despite the fact that he dropped 18 points below last week's mark.

Bob McDonald, formerly of Marion and at the present time with Newark, has taken over second position as he soared 11 points for a .346 average. Neil Reside of Lima follows in the third spot with a neat .341 average.

Reside also takes the honors in specialized batting, having the most hits, 94; total bases, 146; triples, 9; runs, 69; besides sharing the lead in runs batted in, at 80, with Harvey Zernia of Lima, and sharing top spot in doubles, at 16, with McDonald and Friend of Newark. Zernia also leads in stolen bases, with 21 and Eddie Volan leads the way in home runs, with 10.

Luke Majorki of Newark, has hit safely in 22 of 24 games he has played in the league, slashing out 46 hits in 100 trips to the plate for a towering mark of .460.

Ned Garver is top hurler with 11 wins and 3 losses. Tom Faulkner of Springfield, who has won 11 games while dropping 5, was victor in both games of a double-header against Middletown July 4, winning the first 4 to 3 and the nightcap 3-0.

Joe Bellamy leads Marion players who have batted more than 100 times with an average of .272. Broukal is second with .270 followed by Morneweg who is batting .262.

In the local pitching department Red Bailey leads with an 8-5 record with Joe Hill running second with 2 wins and 2 losses. Randy Edwards follows up in the third spot with 5 wins in 11 starts.

Following are the averages for the league, up to and including July 8 as compiled by the Howe News Bureau of Chicago:

REDLEGS CONFIDENT OF SUCCESSFUL TOUR OF EASTERN CAMPS

Cincinnati Takes 11 of 14 Games; 5 with St. Louis Coming Up.

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, July 10 — Victorious in 11 of 14 games with the four eastern National league baseball teams at Cincinnati, the Cincinnati Reds today looked forward with confidence to a swing around the eastern seaboard.

But first they must buck the champion St. Louis Cardinals in a five-game set.

Yesterday they finished their home stay by belting the daylights out of the Philadelphia Blue Jays in a doubleheader, 9 to 8 and 7 to 5.

In the opener the Phils led 4 to 0 but in the Reds' half of the fourth, four runs were scored and they never relinquished the lead.

Over the unearned route in the sixth inning, Cincinnati added four more tallies on four singles, two errors and a wild pitch by relief pitcher Antor Karl. Arnold Carter was credited with his fifth victory of the season although a Philadelphia rally in the eighth, in which two runs were scored, sent him to the showers in favor of Bucky Walters.

Al Gerneauer started the second game for the Blue Jays but he got knocked around fiercely before retiring the opposition in the first inning. Four runs were counted for Cincinnati in the first.

Philadelphia picked up two off Harry Gumbert in the fourth and knocked him out of the game in the seventh when they took the lead with three runs. Ed Heusser, who replaced him, held Philadelphia hitless for the remainder and was credited with the victory.

The Reds scored three runs in their half of the seventh to grab the contest.

Another Indian Pitcher in Doghouse

By The Associated Press

SAMPSON, N. Y., July 10—Another Cleveland Indian pitcher became a tenant in the managerial doghouse today.

The latest moundsman to move into quarters previously occupied by Jim Bagby and Vernon Kennedy is Ed (Specs) Klieman, 25-year-old right hander serving his first full season with the club.

Klieman was fined $100 after he clashed verbally with Manager Lou Boudreau at Boston yesterday when the Indian pilot removed him from the box in the ninth inning of the opener of a twin bill.

The Indians held a six-run lead with two out and a runner on first when Boudreau waved Joe Heving in from the bullpen to replace Klieman.

Klieman received credit for the 8 to 2 victory in the opener, his fifth triumph against four defeats. The Red Sox won the afterpiece 4 to 2 after securing all their runs off Ray Poat in the first two innings.

All-Star Managers Look Over Field for Starting Pitchers

By The Associated Press

PITTSBURGH, July 10—Bucky Walters of Cincinnati looms as the probable National league starting pitcher in the 12th annual All-Star game tomorrow night at Forbes Field with Marse Joe McCarthy of the American leaguers expected to counter between Hank Borowy of the New York Yankees and Ted Hughson of the Boston Red Sox.

Pending definite announcement from Skipper Billy Southworth of the Nationals and McCarthy, baseball men figured today the two pilots would lead with the ace right-handers. Walters has a 14-3 win record for the Reds, Borowy has won 11 and dropped 4 and Hughson boasts a fancy 13-3 mark.

With Lefty Max Lanier of the Cards out of action for 10 days due to an arm injury, Southworth is expected to follow Walters with Rip Sewell of the host Pittsburgh club and Nate Andrews of the Braves in an attempt to smash the junior circuit's six-year win streak.

Bob Muncrief of the Browns and Hal Newhouser of the Tigers are available for late duty with the McCarthy clan and Bobo Newsom of the A's may get a chance to strut his stuff before a sell-out crowd that will approach 40,000 and pump $100,000 into the bat and ball fund for servicemen.

Three American league hurlers Paul (Dizzy) Trout of the Tigers, Dutch Leonard of the Senators and Orval Grove of the White Sox, and two National chuckers, Jim Tobin and Al Javery of the Braves, were practically eliminated from consideration by working Sunday games.

MILWAUKEE HOST TO A.A. ALL-STARS

By The Associated Press

The Milwaukee Brewers had a 9-game winning streak shattered yesterday, but not until after the American Association pace-setters clinched the host role for the league's All-Star game on July 26.

Casey Stengel's Brews trimmed St. Paul, 5-2, in the opener of a Sabbath twin bill for their ninth straight decision and despite a 6-2 setback by the Saints in the finale maintained their six-game lead over second-place Columbus which divided with Louisville.

Since the club in front July 14 will entertain the All-Stars, the Brews can't miss the privilege with only a visitation by Minneapolis before next Friday's deadline.

It was a 50-50 days all around the loop in yesterday's four double features. The third-spot Louisville Colonels climbed to within a half game of Columbus with an 8-6 opening triumph, but the Red Birds erased the gain by winning the nightcap, 4-3.

Fourth-place Toledo divided with cellar-dwelling Indianapolis, winning the opener, 9-3, and dropping the afterpiece, 8-5, while Kansas City topped Minneapolis, 6-1, for their fifth straight, but then bowed to the Millers, 14-5.

Barn Fire Expands Week's Racing Program

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, July 10—The grand circuit meeting at North Randall enters its final week today with an expanded program caused by Saturday's $55,000 fire that destroyed four stables and a feed storage barn.

The blaze brought a stop to racing after four starts had been staged and all heats of the $2,080 championship stallion stake and two heats of the $1,000 Little Pat free-for-all pace will be presented today.

Hardin County To Vote on Improvement Levy

KENTON, July 10—The board of Hardin county commissioners today passed a resolution declaring the necessity of holding a special election, Nov. 7, on the question of a one-mill levy for construction of buildings and improving the site of the Hardin county fairground. The fair board asked commissioners to build a grandstand, fireproof horse barns and exhibit halls, and to improve the grounds so that the local fair may be placed on a competitive basis with other fairs in Ohio. No estimate has been made as to the total cost of contemplated improvements.

MAGIC PUTTER PUTS M'SPADEN IN MONEY

By The Associated Press

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., July 10—Being something of a putting sensation is fairly new for Jug McSpaden, who dropped from the winter golf tour three years ago because he couldn't putt.

At that time, the Philadelphia pro became affectionately known among his colleagues as "Jerks" McSpaden. He got the shakes when he got a putter in his hand.

"Hours of practice finally snapped me out of it," said Jug. "And then, too, I patched up a putter with an extra heavy club head—and the added weight seemed to help my touch."

Mostly because of his magic putter, McSpaden has cornered the title-winning market this season—taking five tournaments outright and teaming with Byron Nelson, his rival for the 1944 champion of champions honors, to win the Golden Valley four-ball invitational championships yesterday.

The Nelson-McSpaden combine finished the 126-hole, match play marathon with a plus of 13 count in the scoring system — a three point edge over the second place team of Bill Kaiser-Hamilton.

Nelson-McSpaden had a best ball aggregate for the seven rounds of 447 strokes—64 under par—for an average of 63.8 on each 18-hole trip. Kaiser-Hamilton averaged 65.7.

The winners split a prize of $1,600 war bonds, McSpaden running his leading bond-tagging total to $18,900 for the season and Nelson increasing his earnings to $16,891.

Next stop for the bond shooters will be the revived National P.G.A. at Spokane, Wash., August 14-20.

Gen. Eisenhower Warns Against Prevalence of Over-Optimism

By MERRILL MUELLER
NBC Reporter Representing the Combined American Networks

By The Associated Press

GEN. EISENHOWERS' HEADQUARTERS, July 10—The supreme commander of the allied expeditionary forces today warned against the growing optimism prevalent throughout the world and predicted long and bitter fighting before the final victory in Europe.

Enumerating the long list of allied successes in Russia, Africa, Italy and France since he first came to Europe at the fall of Tobruk two years ago, General Eisenhower said the trend toward over-optimism was understandable. But he emphasized it was the duty of the people in responsible positions to state the facts.

Over-optimism doesn't take into consideration one main point—that we are now in a position to hit the Germans where it hurts and the Germans will fight back harder than ever.

Thus General Eisenhower made it clear that while the possibility of a crack in German morale was not excluded, he believed Gestapo control was so complete over Germany that internal collapse was a false hope.

The general said the taking of Caen was most gratifying and we are on the offensive all along the front.

Continuation of the American push on the western flank is all part of the great plan but there is nothing spectacular in it at the moment. It is slow, painful slugging.

General Eisenhower was greatly pleased with the Russian victory at Wilno. He said 25 German divisions northeast of Wilno are badly compromised by its capture.

The supreme commander discussed sympathetically the trials London and southern England are going through under flying bomb attacks. He said no military man is taking lightly these experiences. This new weapon and its employment is difficult to analyze. Speculation on it is out of order.

We have been successful in keeping some of its seriousness down and the great group of allied scientists studying it all the time may evolve something even more effective.

In paying tribute to the remarkable achievements of the air force General Eisenhower got back into his most trying subject—the weather. He said allied air operations were beyond praise for endurance, skill and enthusiasm, but weather prevented coordination of the huge air power with tactical ground fighting and thus saved the enemy.

The weather was so bad, the general said with a grin, that even the British admit it was unusual. In fact the British were talking about their weather like Californians.

General Eisenhower was in high spirits today as he lunched with the Earl of Halifax, the British ambassador to Washington, and Maj. Gen. W. Bedell Smith, the chief of staff.

WIDEN CRYSTAL LAKE LIFE GUARD SERVICE

Staff of 10 Now on Duty with Safety Supervisor.

A full safety program is being carried on at Crystal Lake park this summer, making sure that everyone swimming there will have proper protection, according to Walter Lingo, manager. Busy days when attendance has hit the 2,000 mark have merited an expansion of the life guard staff at the lake. All life guards have been qualified for the service and are on regular duty at the lake.

John Sekinger is head of the life guard service and is in charge of the lake safety program. There are now 10 regular life guards on duty. On especially busy days the staff may be expanded still further, Mr. Lingo said.

On the staff are Vern Orth, who recently attended a national Boy Scout aquatic school, Bill Williams, Ed Rayl, Jack Robbins Charles Rosebrook, Bob Bindley, Sam Baker, Bud Conkle, Lester Gamble and Bob Cook.

No special program has been planned for the next two weeks by the lake management since the Marion county chapter of the Red Cross is carrying on its swimming and life saving classes there. In the morning there are children's classes. Life guard courses are taught in the afternoon, and in the evening are adult swimming classes.

Attendance at the lake was down Sunday, reaching about half the number recorded on the busiest days this season. Threats of rain during the afternoon kept people away from the water, Mr. Lingo said. Earlier in the season attendance marks on Sunday reached well above 2,000. There will be an attempt to plan a program for the lake after the Red Cross classes have been completed.

EARLY SELLING STALLS STOCKS

A Few Favorites Later Break Through To Post Some Advances.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, July 10—A little early selling stalled assorted stocks in today's market although numerous favorites eventually managed to tack on fractions to a point or so at 7-year peaks.

Prices turned a shade uneven after an active opening. Dealings then slackened but plus marks were well in the majority near the fourth hour.

Ahead most of the session were Montgomery Ward, Sears Roebuck, Western Union "A," Bethlehem, U. S. Steel, Chrysler, General Motors, Goodyear, Anaconda, American Telephone, International Harvester and Johns-Manville. Coca-Cola jumped several points on a few sales. Occasional losers were North American, Great Northern, Goodrich, United Aircraft and U. S. Rubber.

City's Playground Attendance Lower

Attendance at playgrounds sponsored by the Marion Recreation commission was reported down last week. A total of 3,182 used the playgrounds.

Joseph Petrich, recreation director said adult attendance seems to be increasing and playground supervisors have been encouraged by this sign. Many adults seem to have the idea that there will be charges for using equipment at parks and school playgrounds, Mr. Petrich said. However, there is no charge on the equipment, which has been distributed for the use of all.

McKinley park registered the largest attendance last week with 1,055. Other reports were: Lincoln park, 550; Glenwood school, 424; Oakland school, 320; Forest Lawn school, 305; Silver Street school, 265, and Mark Street school, 263.

A picnic featured activities at McKinley park last Thursday. Winners in contests were Tom Haviland, Eugene Winters, David Myers, Nancy Haviland, Joan Freshour, Charles Taylor, Barbara McIntire, Nancy Haviland, Babe Stuber, Jimmy Jones, Bill Claypool, Ralph Claypool and Eugene Winters. Boys and girls at Glenwood school acted as their own judges in a pet show held at the school last week. Angela Sayer and Sally Anderson assisted in serving when a picnic was held at Mark Street school Friday night.

Miss Pauline Stannard is planning a tennis tournament at Lincoln park in the near future. Anyone interested has been asked to get in touch with her. Plans for a picnic are being made at Forest Lawn school.

Ohio Job Compensation Drops to 1944 Low

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., July 10—State unemployment compensation payments during June dropped to $90,049, lowest monthly total this year, Charles H. Jones, administrator of the Ohio bureau of unemployment compensation, announced today.

That amount was 15 per cent lower than May's total payments, Jones explained.

Four Ohio cities had no compensable unemployment last month: Ashtabula, Ravenna, Washington C. H. and Wooster.

An average of 1,411 unemployed Ohioans per week received benefits during the month, payments covering 6,292 weeks of unemployment.

Jones said unemployment compensation payments for the first six months of 1944 were about one-third lower than for the comparable period of last year.

GRAIN PRICES HOLD FIRM UNDERTONE

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, July 10—The grain market had a firm undertone today with rye futures showing independent strength.

Commission house buying and short covering by the local trade absorbed comparatively light hedge offerings in the wheat pit and prices were about steady near the close. Traders said the decrease in hedging sales apparently was an indication that producers are withholding new wheat from the market pending clarification of the price structure.

Strength of rye was attributed to higher prices at Winnipeg and distiller demand for the cash grain. The market ran into some profit taking in late trading and prices were down slightly from the day's best figures.

Turn To The Right Rule Likely for Argentine Drivers

By The Associated Press

BUENOS AIRES—The Argentine government may switch automobile traffic from the left to the right side of the road.

Motor vehicles Argentina imports from the United States during peacetime cost $100 each extra for right hand drive. Argentine motorists have trouble in other countries, especially on the Andean highway between Argentina and Chile where vehicles shift sides at the border.

In Buenos Aires, many a visitor, looking carefully to the left as he steps off the curb, narrowly escapes being mowed down.

The only other countries in the world where lefthand drive is observed are Great Britain and some of its dependencies; Hungary, Ireland, Japan, Sweden and the Dutch East Indies.

Veteran pedestrians are pessimistic about the proposed change. Buenos Aires chauffeurs are as untamed as the pampas. All remember a brief trial of traffic lights which were soon removed because the drivers ignored them.

Bus and trolley drivers seldom stop, passengers boarding and alighting on the run, while the general pace of traffic is fast and unconventional. Pedestrians fear chaos will result from any sudden change.

Pedestrians are just as headstrong. Recently, when police tried to stop jay-walking, they were forced to give it up as hopeless.

Even when five policemen took stations at an intersection—one in each corner and one in the center—the pedestrians blithely paid no heed. A number of arrests failed to stop them while hundreds of persons stood on the corner, watched and laughed, and crossed the streets whenever they pleased.

LOVE'S FAIR HORIZON

By ADELE GARRISON

I LAUGHED, as I always do at Lillian's nonsense, even though I had a faintly guilty feeling that we were being disrespectful to my mother-in-law. She is so valiantly trying to do all the "little things" she can, since her age and infirmities bar her from any war effort, that my affection for her, always sincere, has grown markedly as I have watched her efforts to take some of the household duties upon her frail but dauntless old shoulders.

Sometimes her activities spell real aid in the household regime, sometimes they are pitifully futile. But I never let her know the difference, trying my best to make her feel that she is of definite help in this strange new world, so he welcoming to her.

Changed

"I don't think you'll have to give her any sleeping pills," I said. "She's changed radically in the last year or two, chiefly in the way she reacts, or rather, fails to react, to Katie's impertinence."

"Tell me something I can believe," Lillian said skeptically.

"Suppose you listen to this tidbit," I suggested, and swiftly related Mother Graham's overhearing of Katie's query concerning the "old cumans," the term so obnoxious to my mother-in-law, and of the magnificent way in which she ignored the incident.

"She observed with an acrid grin that Katie probably thought she was going to have a stroke or something," I said, "and went on the even tenor of her way."

"And she didn't give Katie hell?" Lillian asked.

Troubled

"That was what troubled Katie," I said smiling. "She confided to me that she was sure Mother Graham was marked for death."

"Well, the old girl certainly has changed!" Lillian said, "and my mind's considerably relieved. Now, detail my duties."

"Just what mine are,— that of a general factotum," I told her. "The boys will be with me, Faith can be left entirely to her grandmother, and until I come back, Katie can take over the kitchen. She won't be needed in the outdoor work for a few days."

"That's so, you've been releasing Katie for the farm effort by scrubbing the pots and pans yourself, haven't you?" she said. "But what makes you think I can't double in brass, as well as in a scullion role?"

"Because, in the first place, it isn't necessary," I said, firmly. "In the second, you'll only disrupt arrangements already made if you try it, and lastly, Harry wouldn't permit it for an instant. You'll have enough to do to oversee things, and see to it that Hugh and Lee Chow get all their wishes granted, culinary and otherwise. Katie is going to lean on you heavily for directions, and for help in keeping out of Mother Graham's way."

Retort

"Katie needs directions about as much as I do a flying license," she retorted caustically. "But I see your point, and I'll yield, if not gracefully, at least whole-heartedly. Now, when do I take hold?"

"Not until you have a good sleep," I said with decision. "Mother Graham will get up when Faith awakens — she is sleeping in the nursery for this special duration. Katie will get up at her usual time, and get breakfast—in relays—and Jerry Ticer will be there early to run errands to the secret chamber, or for any work you have for him, so—"

"So-o—" she repeated as I paused, "I'm simply to lie deggo tomorrow morning until I awaken?"

"That's the general idea," I agreed with a grin. "But here are the boys!"

"With their eyes glued to their wrist watches," she said. "The quarter-hour must be up."

"It is," I said, as Junior and Roderick paused in the doorway, with the rattle of impedimenta business minds assume their shoulders.

Ready

"We're going up for Uncle Harry now," they said. "We just took Joe and Gus out to the car and brought the three guests and their bags inside. Jim's showing them where they're going to sleep, and Katie's getting their supper ready. Gus and Joe are seeing that the car's all right for the trip on, so when we bring Uncle Harry down, we can start, don't you think, Mums?"

"I am certain of it," I told them, and both Lillian and I smiled at their enthusiastic faces, and then, as they hurried importantly away, at each other.

"The darlings!" Lillian exclaimed, her smile tinged with sadness. "Don't you wish they could stay this way forever?"

"And what a fool wish that would be!" I said lightly. But I had a curious frightened notion that the question was linked to the mental anxiety which, she had hinted, was responsible for the rise in her blood pressure. Was she worried again about Marion?

I had no time to dwell on it now, however, but I filed the idea away for early reference and attention. And then Harry and the boys were at the door.

"Well, is the caravan ready to start?" Harry asked.

YOUR HEALTH

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

Strains of War

IT SHOULD be no surprise to anyone who has thought about it at all that the stresses of war have created many mental invalids. Men's minds, like their bodies, are built on different levels of resistance to strain.

One man will go along quite efficiently on a job that requires little responsibility or initiative and as long as economic conditions are prosperous he will never show that he has inside him the seeds of mental deterioration, alcoholism or complete madness. Most men lead lives of quiet desperation, but so long as the desperation is quiet we never notice them. When something makes it active society has to take notice.

War is certainly the supreme example of such an activator. We are seeing in medical practice plenty of examples of the result and it is not pessimism, but simply a realistic conclusion that one of the great post-war problems will be the mental incapacity of a large group of our citizens, the numerical amount of which would be difficult to assess.

From England we have a report on this by Dr. James W. Mackintosh, published by the Commonwealth Fund (The War and Mental Health in England). The British had much more stress than we—air raids, life in shelters, evacuation of children and separation from parents. The report makes no estimate of the exact number of mental wrecks there are in England, but one gathers this is in the millions.

In the United States the causative factors have been for the young, induction into the army and the prospect of battle experience, and for the older group, change from peacetime work to war work, overwork, grief from losses of loved ones, separations, and the petty annoyances and restrictions of rationing and priorities. Only the very weakest went down under the last.

What the psychiatrists see can be classified under three headings.

1. The anxiety state. The nervous breakdown. Consisting of excitement, confusion, unaccountable actions, tremblings, changes in pulse and breathing. These are not necessarily serious problems and when the crisis is over will probably in most instances automatically adjust themselves.

2. Conversional breakdown. These are gross mood disorders, or the simulation or fear of some organic disease. Usually they are based upon an essential psychopathic personality and the war development acts as a photographable plate is made clear by the developer. They may respond to treatment or may become forever useless.

3. The accentuation of previously seen and recognized neuroses. The hysteric, or the person with temper tantrums has more frequent attacks for less real reasons. The functional dyspeptic takes more pills.

One hopeful thing about that last group is that the stresses and responsibilities of the war cures instead of accentuates a lot of them. In such a case the functional dyspeptic finds some pride in the fact that he can eat anything, the headaches quit their beefing and go to work, and the insomniac sleeps like a top.

One lesson from the British experience is that in treatment we shall probably have to take these people in classes and treat them by group psychology. The cases are too numerous to allow of individualization.

Another lesson each of us can take to heart. It is the tough-minded nations who are going to endure and you can take it if you make up your mind to it. Instead of giving way and saying—"I can't stand any more of this, I am going to have a good old fashioned cry," you will find it is just as easy to say—"For the sake of my neighbors and my friends and my country I can stand up in the dark and act as if it were light."

SEEKS LOST MEDALS

By International News Service

PHILADELPHIA — Lawson Robertson, veteran University of Pennsylvania track coach, is offering a reward for the return of two solid gold medals he won during his competitive days. The medals vanished recently. One was presented to him by Czar Nicholas in St. Petersburg 1908, and the other by Alice Roosevelt in St. Louis 1904, when he won the national 100-yard title.

PARTIAL TO RED

By International News Service

HERSHEY, Pa.—Mrs. Ross W. Eshenshade, of Hershey, asserts that ducks on the Hershey farms, a protective reservation, are partial to the color red. When she sits outdoors with a red cushion, they swarm about her, she maintains, but when she uses a cushion of another color they pay no attention.
